To brief you all about the glorious history of our college, Sri Aurobindo College (Evening) was established on 1st September 1984. It is named after the legendary philosopher, poet, and nationalist, Sri Aurobindo Ghose. We at Sri Aurobindo College Evening continually strive to enable and instil global competencies among our students while ensuring their firm rootedness in the high moral values and ethics of our culture. The inclusivity and flexibility of Sri Aurobindo's philosophy cast a lasting impact on the impressionable minds of our students. Therefore, while we subscribe entirely to the university curriculum designed for all the constituent colleges, we always ensure that we supplement classroom teaching with adequate and practical training in morality and ethical understanding through platforms such as Aurobindo Vichar Manch and Gandhi Study Circle.

The pedagogical imperatives and methodologies have changed dramatically over the last few years. How we teach students and prepare them for the world has changed significantly. We at Sri Aurobindo College (Evening) have overhauled our pedagogical apparatus and infrastructure to meet global standards of imparting education and learning. We have also successfully oriented ourselves towards numerous socio-educational government initiatives to improve our social outreach.

The college has always encouraged its teaching and non-teaching staff to participate in Faculty Development Programmes, seminars and conferences, refresher courses, orientation programmes, and workshops to append and enhance the quality and methodology of pedagogy. All the teaching and non-teaching staff of the college are fully cognizant of the institution's responsibility of empowering the nation through capacity building of individuals.

The year has witnessed the institution growing by leaps and bounds. Our college's teaching and non-teaching staff are dedicated to the vision of transforming this institution into a productive centre of excellence in teaching, learning, and research.
