ABOUT OUR SOCIETY

Welcome to Ecoshastra, the Economics Society of Aurobindo College (E)! We're a vibrant community of students who are excited about economics and love keeping up with what's happening in the world. At Ecoshastra, our mission is to spark your curiosity and help you think more analytically, while making economic concepts easy to understand and relevant to everyday life.

Throughout the year, we organize a variety of fun and interactive events—like seminars, workshops, expert talks, debates, quizzes, and case study competitions. These activities are all about connecting classroom learning with real-world issues, so that everyone, whether you study economics or are simply curious, can get involved and enjoy.

We truly value diversity of thought and believe that every member's perspective makes us stronger. Ecoshastra is a place where your ideas are heard, your skills grow, and connections turn into long-lasting friendships. Our welcoming atmosphere encourages you to develop not just research and analytical abilities, but also communication and leadership qualities.
